George III Painted Chair probably by Gillow

£250

A George III painted chair in the manner of James Wyatt, and probably made by Gillows of Lancaster. The shield-shaped back with three palm-capped stick splats, the bowed caned seats raised on turned legs joined by turned stretchers, painted in green on a cream ground in distressed, "country house" condition. The cane seat requiring replacement.

Please note: we have a total of five chairs of this model available as two pairs and a single.
